OHIO RECYCLING PROJECT
GRANTED CRITICAL ENVIRONMENTAL PERMIT

ZincOx Resources plc has received the Final Permit to Install (commonly known as the “Air Permit”) from the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency (OEPA). This permit is the sixth to be granted, demonstrating the support by the State and the local community for the project and reflecting the beneficial nature of the recycling process on the environment. The permit is the last major hurdle to be overcome before site-work can commence, which is expected to be in May 2008. Progress is also continuing on design, with the completion of all basic engineering and the identification of long-lead items, the procurement of which has begun.

Commenting on the announcement, Andrew Woollett, ZincOx’s Chairman said: “ZincOx and its supporting partners have made excellent progress on the project, and the award of this permit is a major milestone towards successful completion.”
